MONDAY, JULY 13, 1816.

[No. 5277.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than co-lums of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases estimated desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

inate coughs, asthma, sore throats, ca-fects the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Plaster.

of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-and obtained a horse and gig on hire, &c he said, to go to Elliott's Mills, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is to swindle me out of my property. He is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, apparently about 25 or 30 years of age, of genteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.

The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old, has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, red stuff top, linings, plated double—outside joints.
I will give the above reward for the recovery of the horse and gig, and the detection of the scoundrel, or 50 dollars

sonable expenses if delivered to me, No.

"THERE'S NOTHING TRUE BUT HEAVEN."
When you bright orb beneath the west,
Descends in shades of even;
When all is hush'd in peaceful rest,
The soul aspires to regions blest—
It finds repose in Heaven.

'Tis then all fleeting joys below,
While to mortals given,
Seems but the pageant of a show,
The veil that hides a latent wo—
And false compared with Heaven.

'Tis then all cares, and sorrows here,
By which frail man is driven,
As evening shadows disappear,
And all within is calm and clear,
Illum'd with rays from Heaven.

Freed from this earth my soul would share
The joys to angels given;
In bright celestial mansions where Blest virtue beams divinely fair—
The glorious dawn of Heaven.

A mad dog was killed on the Battery in New-York a few days since, which should make persons extremely careful to confine their animals at a season which is supposed to generate hydrophobia.

A REMEDY FOR HOVEN OR SWOLLEN CAT-TLE.

A writer in the "Columbian" gives directions for stabling cattle that have been hoven or swollen by eating clover or other green and succulent food. It has been said that any alkaline solution will answer every purpose proposed by that dangerous process. The following is easily procured, and we are told has been found efficacious. Make what is called by some a whittie, by putting about a pint of good house ashes into about two quarts of water; stir it a little, let it settle and turn off the clear water. This when poured down the throat of the creature diseased, will speedily effect a cure. One junk quart bottle full is commonly found sufficient for an ox or a cow. In some instances a second is necessary. A less quantity will answer for a sheep. Small lumps of fat mixed with Indian meal, forced down the creature's throat, will likewise effect a cure.

From the Savannah Republican.

East-Florida abounds in internal advantages sufficient to make it one of the most important divisions of North America, and much more so than many that are already occupied. Its level face and mild climate is not exceeded in point of salubrity, by any part of either continent of America. Its extensive lands, fertile in the production of many valuable articles of agriculture—rich in spontaneous high growth and pasturage, and abounding in native quadrupeds, lay waste to the amount of above fifteen millions of acres. Its water courses are numerous, navigable and profusely supplied with a variety of seal skin and shell fish, and their shores at certain seasons well supplied with wild fowl. Its stores of lumber are immense; and the qualities of many of them are preferred in all countries where they have been used, to those of the same classes found elsewhere, particularly its pine, cedar, cypress, and live oak, which are kinds of lumber more universally desired in terrestrial and maritime structures, and are the classes in which it most abounds. Florida pine has been purchased in Savannah for ship-building at 50 per cent. higher in price than the pine of Georgia, though but about 2 degrees difference in latitude, and it is well known that the Florida pine has had a preference in the royal dock-yards of England to any other pine that has been used there.

The exportations of Florida, amounting at present to almost nothing, could be very great if it had a sufficient population. For the last twenty years, there has been exported one barrel of turpentine, the produce of this province, whereas when it was an infant colony of Great Britain, one contractor shipped from St. John's river, in one season twenty thousand barrels. Again: in Savannah river, Georgia, which is in no wise superior to the river St. John's, are loaded hundreds of vessels per year, while the whole of this province does not load ten vessels in a year, notwithstanding Florida has many more advantages arising from its local situation—such as extensive fishing streams, superabundantly supplied; large fields for wrecking in the peculiar situation of its coasts and keys—a more southern climate, more genial to the cultivation of some important articles of commerce, and to many valuable spontaneous productions of nature, &c.

Its exportations might consist of many articles, viz: the four classes of lumber already mentioned, and many others; cotton, wool, hemp, indigo, tobacco, pot and pearl ash, myrtle and beeswax, turpentine, tar, rosin, pitch, indian corn, rice, rye, barley, oats, grape and orange wine, grape brandy, whiskey, malt liquors, pease and beans, &c. many kinds, a long list of esculent and medicinal roots, culinary, medicinal and manufacturing oils, beef, pork, fish, butter, cheese, lard, peltry, &c. &c. Sugar and flour have not been fairly tried; but in Georgia, lying more north, the former is made in great perfection, and the latter in Louisiana directly west: there is no reason to doubt of the lucrative productions in Florida—and its southern parts will suit the growth of coffee; for forming a long peninsula between the two gulfs, the Atlantic and Mexican, the climate becomes much more southern than the latitude warrants.

These advantages lie dormant only from the want of hands to put them in motion.

The ludicrous misapplication of terms in the cases of tragedies which make us laugh, and comedies which make us melancholy, with which I closed my paper of Friday, and the lamentable misapplication of it that so often takes place in the donation of the name of patriot to turbulent bread-seekers, respectively lead the mind to the contemplation of similar abuses of words in a variety of cases of kindred natures. Every day presents us with a sheet called a newspaper, in which the editor, or his sub-scribes or employers—(disgusting compounds of the sneaking adulator and the ruffian assassin) treat their guests with alternate layers of gross flattery upon "the freedom of the press," and butcherly denunciations of vengeance against those who dare to exercise that freedom in the assertion of opinions disagreeable to those scribblers. Were ignorance an excuse for malignity and mischievousness, nine out of ten of those might freely be forgiven; but in my opinion it is an aggravation of the evil. Like a drunken left-handed bully in an Irish fair, those ignoramus level their cudgels with such an utter want of skill or discrimination, that no one can be sure of escaping its brutality; at the same time that the evil done is greatly enhanced by the disgrace of being hurt by such miserable antagonists. He who is torn to pieces by a lion or tiger, suffers nothing but death, while the catastrophe of him who should be nibbled by ducks, would provoke little else but contempt or derision.

As to comedies that extort tears, they are rare instances of the monstrous anomalies which pass current upon the mob of fashion. "What," says the ingenious Henry Fielding, "can we conceive of an audience at a play-house, where the dullest chit-chat between gentlemen and ladies, is called humor, and applauded as such, while Al-humazar, (a comedy for its excellence revived by Garrick) is but coldly received, and the Little French Lawyer of Fletcher, is hissed off the stage?"

The fact is, that there are but few, if any, words in our language so abused by misapplication as the word humor—none respecting which the ideas of the aforesaid mob are so unsettled, vague and indeterminate. Indeed it may be doubted whether nineteen in twenty of mankind have any more idea in their heads when that word drops from their lips, than the little child I have mentioned, when she calls a thing funny. "I remember a gentleman," says Fielding, "who used to have this word (humor) frequently in his mouth, and bestowed it liberally upon his acquaintances—I was inclined to wonder at his taste, till happening to be on board ship with him, he rapt out a great oath, and swore that the ship had a great deal of humor in it—I was now satisfied that, with my friend, the word had no meaning at all."

If this indistinct conception of the meaning of the word is so common in audiences and readers, it is still more common in authors. A certain worthy, well-meaning North Briton, once produced a piece on Drury Lane stage, called "The Highland Fair," in which he intended to display the comical humors of the Highlanders. The audience, who had for three nights together sat staring at each other, scarce knowing what to make of their entertainment, on the fourth joined in an unanimous explosion of laughter. This they continued throughout an act, when the author, who unhappily mistook the peals of merriment for applause, went up to Mr. Wilkes, and with an air of triumph said to him, "Deed o' my soul, sir, they begin to take the humor at last." A greater mistake still in this matter is related of the learned Bernard Lintott, the bookseller, who having purchased the copy of Phedra and Hypolitus the tragedy, was heard to lament most dolefully that the author had not put a little more humor into it. "for that," said he, "is the only thing that is wanted to render it excellent."

It is from this uncertainty as to the precise meaning of the word humor, that so many different opinions are found among the many, of the same author and the same work—and which variance of notion flows allegorically points at, when he says, Tres mihi convive propedissimere videntur.

Thus nothing is more common than to hear, in one company, the same book extolled to the skies, with the epithets of fine, excellent, inimitable, and so forth, which in another is run down and vilified as the lowest, dullest, and saddest stuff that ever was written.

CURIO.

FROM PORTO RICO.

We learn from Captain Carroway, of the sloop Howard and James, arrived here yesterday, in 13 days from Porto Rico, that a British frigate (believed La Pique) arrived at Aguadilla on the 18th June, for the purpose, as supposed, of examining the harbors and ports of Porto Rico, having previously looked carefully into all the ports, bays and harbors of St. Domingo. Capt. C. further states that contributions had been recently levied on the inhabitants of Porto Rico, for the purpose of putting the fortifications at the west end of the island in a good state of repair, and considerable military preparations were manifest in that quarter of the island, the object of which we are left to conjecture.

Coffee at Porto Rico was 18 dollars, and scarcely any in market.—Four 12 50, exclusive of duty.—Codfish 6.—Mackarel 5.

FROM ST. THOMAS.

By the polite attention of our friend, Captain Applewhite, of the schooner Columbia, arrived yesterday in 11 days from St. Thomas, we have received papers of that island from the 16th to the 23d ult.—They contain no news—but upon the margin of the latest date, we find a written memorandum in these words—"It is reported that general Bermudez has been defeated by the royalists at Cumana." This report, we understand, was brought to St. Thomas by some of the royalists who came there for supplies.

Flour at St. Thomas was 12 dollars, and like other American produce, in no demand. Island produce was very high. [Ibid.]

THE STORMING OF PENSACOLA.
On this subject the Quebec Gazette of the 29th of June, offers the following angry remarks:—"A few months will show to what length the government of the United States may go in America, without exciting the jealousy and resistance of the European governments. It seems to us that the seizure of Amelia Island, is a parallel, on a smaller theatre, to the entry of Bonaparte's troops into Spain, under the pretence of intestine divisions. The seizure on neutral territory, and executions of Arbuthnot and Ambriste, is fully as unjustifiable as the seizure and execution of the duke of Enghien; and the storming of Pensacola, is at least equally as atrocious as the massacres of Madrid."

Gettysburgh, (Penn.) July 1.

Monday last was probably the warmest day ever experienced at this place. The mercury in Fahrenheit's thermometer stood at 98 deg. from 2 till 4 p. m. in the shade, where there was every advantage of a free circulation of air. The same thermometer, placed in the sun, arose at 4 p. m. to 136 deg. The nearest approach to this elevated temperature which has been noted here, was June 16th, 1813, when the same instrument indicated 97 degrees.

Troy, (N. Y.) June 30.

Five English Guineas and a half Johnnies were exchanged at the Troy bookstore on Thursday, by a young man, who says that he, in company with another person, found them, together with some other pieces, in the bank of Lake Champlain, at a place where the earth had caved off this spring, a few rods from the old French fort at Crown Point. The guineas were coined under the following reigns, viz—James 2d, 1688, William 3d, 1690, Queen Anne, 1714, George, 1720; the Portuguese coin bears the date of 1750. The whole number found were 8 guineas and 3 half Joes. The pieces appear to be perfectly preserved, notwithstanding they have probably lain in the earth nearly 60 years.

THE MISSOURI.
The enterprising Col. James Johnston, of Kentucky, has contracted with the War Department to furnish rations for the troops to be stationed at the mouth of the Yellow-Stone river, 1800 miles up the Missouri. He has offered, or intends offering, to convey munitions of war, baggage and provisions, to that point in Steam Boats—By that mode of conveyance, they would reach their place of destination in 60 days, whereas by the common mode, they would not reach there before July or August 1819. A steam boat with two or three pieces of cannon, and 300 men on board, would make a more lasting impression upon the minds of the sons of the forest, than would an army of 10,000 men marched by land. And should our adventurers come across a party of Lord Selkirk's party, they would teach them some useful lessons.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

We have been informed by a gentleman who has made trial of the experiment, that holding a wound to the fire, will immediately stop the flowing of blood from it—that having received a severe wound in the foot, and after having become almost exhausted by the loss of blood, he was induced to try the above experiment, and found it effectual. The wound must be held to the fire for some considerable time. [Connecticut Mirror.]

A USEFUL HINT TO THOSE WHO BURN FUEL.
A thousand degrees of heat is necessary, according to Watts, to convert water into vapor, which is no hotter than the boiling water itself. Hence it is evident, that 1000 degrees of heat or caloric is lost in converting the moisture of green and wet wood into steam, and 1000° gained by the burning of dry fuel.

This is worth dollars to those who provide fuel for next winter. C. C. B.

THE "KALIEDOSCOPE."

The new article called by the above hard name—but which nevertheless is said to fully express in Greek, its quality of presenting to the eye beautiful objects—is so much in demand, that the manufacturer of them here is scarcely able to answer the calls for them. Though extremely simple, it affords more gratification for the price than any thing of the kind ever before offered to the public. It is a metallic tube, containing in an enclosure at one end several fragments of colored glass, and other shining substances of various tints. These fragments are seen from a small aperture at the other end of the tube, through two plate glasses so fixed as to form an angle of 22½ degrees of each other. By turning the tube the shining fragments which are loose fall in various directions, presenting as rapidly as you please, a succession of the most beautiful forms, in all colors of the rainbow. We have no doubt after several experiments, that many thousand figures might be produced in one of these apparently magical tubes, without the repetition of one of them. The invention, which has a Dr. Brewster of England for its discoverer, it is said, refutes one of the Newtonian Doctrines respecting colours, and that the forms presenting are capable of affording an infinite variety of beautiful patterns to the manufacturers of fancy goods and hangings. We know not how useful the invention may prove, but we are certain it is extremely amusing.

FROM THE FRANKLIN GAZETTE.

St. Thomas, June 12, 1818.
Sir, "The United States ship Hornet having called at this port for a few days on her passage towards the main, I had during her stay, the pleasure of the company and conversation of our mutual good friend Esq. whose particular and repeated request I have taken the liberty of addressing you, and, at his solicitation, of communicating to you from time to time such interesting information as may come within my knowledge, more particularly, such as relates to the situation and progress of the contending parties on the southern continent.

From the proximity of this island to the seat of war in the Spanish revolutionary provinces; its nearly central situation between the windward and leeward islands; the advantages it derives from admitting an unstrained intercourse with all nations, and affording an eligible market for the disposal of their produce and manufactures, attended with but a trifling expense, it has become the great emporium from whence the neighboring colonies, more restricted in their commercial privileges, derive their principal supplies, and afford facilities for acquiring the earliest and most authentic intelligence of the passing events; it is however much to be regretted that the contracted policy and limited views of our colonial government tends in a great measure to defeat the more liberal and enlightened intentions of the King, by whose ordinance this was constituted a free port; this policy has been uniformly and indolently directed against the independent party, whose flag is excluded from the harbor, and whose armed cruisers have been in several instances captured by Danish vessels of war and condemned in this port, whilst the Spanish flag is freely admitted and protected; the natural consequence of which distinction has been, that several Danish merchantmen have been captured by the injured party in retaliation. Notwithstanding these obstacles, a pretty regular communication is secretly maintained with the ports in possession of the patriots. From these circumstances it may reasonably be concluded, that but little reliance should be placed in the various reports of the day, they being generally uttered or spread agreeably to the wishes or interests of the reporter. The present prevailing report is, that the patriots have abandoned their position at Calabozo and retired 6 leagues from thence, where they still remained on the 22d ultimo, say 700 cavalry and 300 infantry: the situation from whence they retired was quietly occupied by the royalists under Morales, who it is said captured three pieces of dismounted artillery left behind by the former. This rumour is founded on an official communication from Morillo to the government of Caracas, and is probably substantially correct; he also states in his despatch that there are reasons to believe Bolivar dead: if so it is an event not much to be regretted, as from his general character I should inter his existence in command would rather retard than accelerate the progress of the cause he had espoused."

With regard to the ultimate termination of the contest, a variety of opinions are entertained: for my own part I have no doubt of the final success of the popular cause, though I fear the period of that success is yet very remote; a great variety of causes tend to protract that desirable issue, the most prominent of which may be found in the internal feuds which unhappily subsist amongst the leading characters, a misfortune always attendant on governments imperfectly organized, and composed as it is of men of every complexion, climate and profession.—Secondly, the want of education, and consequent ignorance and bigotry of the lower orders, evils which, experience has taught us, it is difficult and tedious to correct in periods of the most profound tranquillity; how much more difficult then must it be to promote the cultivation of the human mind in the turbulent and busy times of a civil warfare; certainly this improvement is not to be looked for in the turmoil of a camp. Another and yet more powerful reason is the great number of adventurers, many of whom are bankrupt in character, and in fortune, who have attached themselves to the cause with a view to improve their private fortunes, without any feeling favorable to liberty, or one sentiment worthy of a patriot. I have now sketched the dark side of the picture; it was however necessary to convey a faithful outline. Let us then indulge a hope that the progress of improvement may be more rapid than present appearances would lead us to anticipate—that it may be so, ever has, and ever shall be my warmest wish.

[Notes by the receiver of the letter.]

* The captain of the vessel which left St. Thomas on the 13th, had heard nothing of the attack on Cumana by the royalists and the defeat of the independent general Bermudez.

* I have heard various opinions as to the character of Bolivar. I take him to be a man of much personal vanity and ambition, regardless of pecuniary sacrifices, and honestly opposed to dependence on old Spain.

Extract of a letter from an American to Paris, dated April 14th, 1818.

"A curious conversation took place few days ago, at a table d'hôte, in the Palais-royal.—Some of our countrymen were at dinner, in company with other gentlemen of their acquaintance, at one table, the next adjoining being occupied by some Spanish cavaliers and officers from the north of Europe—the conversation of the Americans naturally turned to home, and the affairs of their country; a Russian officer who was of the party, asked, 'why the United States did not take possession of Mexico, in satisfaction for the property the Spaniards had so unjustifiably taken from the citizens?' adding, 'there was not a crowned head in Europe, that under the same circumstances, would hesitate or delay, in the present state of the world, to obtain justice in a summary manner for their subjects, for conduct so much like piracy, that it differed from it only in not being yet defined by any writer on public law.' This was expressed with so much energy, that one of the dons turned round, and in a very polite manner addressed the Russian officer, saying, 'it appears very extraordinary to a Spaniard to hear gentlemen of other countries speak so freely in France, of disposing of the territory of one of her allies; permit me sir, continued the don, to observe, that if Spain was in a condition to punish the insult committed by the American government, in taking possession of Amelia Island, the president of the United States would soon be obliged to resign—that it was an act of war, and ought to be met by retaliation.

The Prussian officer, who was acquainted with him, very good humouredly replied, 'you have put the matter in a most striking point of light; the Americans are now realizing on Spain; the capture of many millions of their property by Spanish subjects was not considered war—the United States then as Spain is now, unable to resist—she therefore wisely postponed the settlements, and in her recent conduct appears to evince a great degree of moderation; after repeated refusals of satisfaction, she has not declared war, but merely taken possession of a strip of adjacent territory—when the value of that is distributed amongst the sufferers, if any should remain unpaid, it would seem very natural that the U. States should take a little more land to pay the residue—we now live, continued this candid soldier, 'in times of retrenchment; before Spain makes complaint she should first repair the wrongs she has committed.'

Here the Spaniards observed, 'that a proposal had been made to refer all the points in dispute between the two governments, to the decision of any one or more of the legitimate sovereigns of Europe, and that it was declined by the U. States.' "Very naturally declined," rejoined the subject of Alexander—"Suppose," added this advocate of justice, "that when Great Britain had demanded satisfaction of Algiers, that the Dey had answered I will refer all matters in dispute to any of the Barbary powers, do you believe that Great Britain would have acceded to the proposition? certainly you do not, much less could it be expected that America would transfer her claims and the decision of her rights to another quarter of the globe. Did England refer the question of compensation for injuries sustained on the Spanish territory of the N. W. coast of America in 1789 to any power but her own? Did not Spain make prompt and ample redress? Did she not stipulate to restore even the buildings and tracts of land?"

The Spanish gentlemen endeavored to extend the field of argument, but an old Prussian general observed, that as the real purpose was to obtain compensation for wrongs committed in lawful war, it appeared to him that those nations that had suffered by neutrality, had an undoubted right to obtain indemnity from their aggressors, in the most summary manner, of which, said the general, with seeming dry example in seizing the Silesia loan. Although the company consisted of the natives of every part of Europe, one sentiment only prevailed, the Spanish gentleman excepted.

ARRIVAL OF THE FRIGATE CONGRESS.
As conjectured in our last, the large armed ship which was beating up into the Roanoke yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, is the frigate Congress, A. Sinclair, esq. commander, just returned from her visit to America, with Messrs. Rodney and Graham, two of the commissioners despatched by our government to obtain correct information of the state of the South American provinces, their mode of government, character and views of the people, and such other intelligence as might be required, to regulate our intercourse with the new governments formed in that country. Judge Bland has not returned in the Congress, having, as stated some days ago, proceeded to Chili.

The Congress is last from Margarita, which place she left on the 26th of June, having previously visited Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo, Maldonado and St. Salvador. She had 31 days passage from St. Salvador, 12 from Margarita, 9 from Porto Rico passage, and in all (including the time detained in the above ports) 60 days from La Plata. Her officers and crew all in good health.

Extract of a letter from an American in Paris, dated April 14th, 1818.

"A curious conversation took place a few days ago at a table d'hôte, in the Palais-royal. Some of our countrymen were at dinner, in company with other gentlemen of their acquaintance, at one table, the next adjoining being occupied by some Spanish cavaliers and officers from the north of Europe—the conversation of the Americans naturally turned to home, and the affairs of their country; a Russian officer who was of the party, asked, 'why the United States did not take possession of Mexico, in satisfaction for the property the Spaniards had so unjustly taken from the citizens?' adding, 'there was not a crowned head in Europe, that under the same circumstances, would hesitate or delay, in the present state of the world, to obtain justice in a summary manner for their subjects, for conduct so much like piracy, that it differed from it only in not being yet defined by any writer on public law.' This was expressed with so much energy, that one of the dons turned round, and in a very polite manner addressed the Russian officer, saying, 'it appears very extraordinary to a Spaniard to hear gentlemen of other countries speak so freely in France, of disposing of the territory of one of her allies; permit me sir, continued the don, to observe, that if Spain was in a condition to punish the insult committed by the American government, in taking possession of Amelia Island, the president of the United States would soon be obliged to resign—that it was an act of war, and ought to be met by retaliation.

The Russian officer, who was acquainted with him, very good humouredly replied, 'you have put the matter in a most striking point of light; the Americans are now retaliating on Spain; the capture of many millions of their property by Spanish subjects was not considered war—the U. States was then as Spain is now, unable to resist—she therefore wisely postponed the settlements, and in her recent conduct appears to evince a great degree of moderation; after repeated refusals of satisfaction, she has not declared war, but merely taken possession of a strip of adjacent territory—when the value of that is distributed amongst the sufferers, if any should remain unpaid, it would seem very natural that the U. States should take a little more land to pay the residue—we now live, continued this candid soldier, 'in times of retribution; before Spain makes complaint she should first repair the wrongs she has committed.

Here the Spaniards observed, 'that a proposal had been made to refer all the points in dispute between the two governments, to the decision of any one or more of the legitimate sovereigns of Europe, and that it was declined by the U. States.' 'Very naturally declined,' rejoined the subject of Alexander—'Suppose,' added this advocate of justice, 'that when Great Britain had demanded satisfaction of Algiers, that the Dey had answered I will refer all matters in dispute to any of the Barbary powers, do you believe that Great Britain would have acceded to the proposition? certainly you do not, much less could it be expected that America would transfer her claims and the decision of her rights to another quarter of the globe. Did England refer the question of compensation for injuries sustained on the Spanish territory of the N. W. coast of America in 1789 to any power but her own? Did not Spain make prompt and ample reparation? Did she not stipulate to repair even the buildings and tracts of land?

The Spanish gentlemen endeavored to extend the field of argument, but an old Prussian general observed, that as the real purpose was to obtain compensation for wrongs committed in lawful war, it appeared to him that those nations that had suffered by neutrality, had an undoubted right to obtain indemnity from their aggressors, in the most summary manner, of which, said the general, with seeming delight, our good old king Frederick set a worthy example in seizing the Silesia loan. Although the company consisted of the natives of every part of Europe, one sentiment only prevailed, the Spanish gentleman excepted.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT NORFOLK.

Office of the Norfolk Beacon, July 9, 1818.

ARRIVAL OF THE FRIGATE CONGRESS.

As conjectured in our last, the large armed ship which was beating up into the Roads yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, is the U. S. frigate Congress, A. Sinclair, esq. commander, just returned from her visit to S. America, with Messrs. Rodney and Graham, two of the commissioners despatched by our government to obtain correct information of the state of the South American provinces, their mode of government, the character and views of the people, and such other intelligence as might be requisite to regulate our intercourse with the new governments formed in that country. Judge Bland has not returned in the Congress, having, as stated some days ago, proceeded to Chili.

The Congress is last from Margarita, which place she left on the 25th of June, having previously visited Rio de Janeiro, Monte-Video, Maldonado and St. Salvador. She had 31 days passage from St. Salvador, 12 from Margarita, 9 from the Rorito Rico passage, and in all (including the time detained in the above ports) two months from La Plata. Her officers and crew all in good health.

To the friends of Humanity.

AN aged, infirm, and widowed mother, is desirous to receive information of THOMAS BURTON CARTER, an only son, concerning whom she has not heard any thing, on which reliance can be placed, for nearly three years. He removed from this place to the state of Ohio about five years ago. The last certain account she had from him, was from Cadiz in that state. He is about twenty five years of age; by trade a laborer. Vague rumour has recently pronounced him dead. A letter communicating information relative to him, directed to Henry Tutwiler, P. M. at this place, would confer a peculiar kindness on an affected woman.

Editors of Newspapers generally, are intreated to give this article a place in their columns a few weeks.

Valuable Land for Sale.
I WILL sell the farm on which I reside, known by the name of Indian Town, and containing about one thousand acres. It is situated in Charles County, Md. on Nanjemoy Creek near its mouth, about seven miles from Port Tobacco, and forty from Washington City. Few farms combine greater advantages than this; added to a fertility of soil equal to any in the country, it binds on the creek nearly two miles, which affords great facility in getting its productions to market, and precludes the necessity of much fencing; the creek affords in their seasons, fish and wild fowl in abundance. The soil is peculiarly adapted to the growth of Tobacco, Wheat and Indian Corn, and the plaster has been found from experience to act on it admirably. There are now about 100 acres in clover, some of which is well set. The improvements are a new two story dwelling house 16 by 40 feet, kitchen, barn, stables, carriage house, with every other necessary out house, the whole in good repair. There is also a wind-mill in good order, the toll of which affords meal enough for the support of the farm. Also, one other tract containing 115 acres in the forest, about three miles distant, entirely in the wood. There is a well of excellent water in the yard, and several springs on different parts of the farm. The premises may be viewed, and the terms known by application to the subscriber. Should the above farm be unsold on the 1st of Sept. next, I will lease it for a term of years.

Any one wishing to purchase may apply to
ROGER JONES,
Also, a very valuable LOT, containing 140 acres, being a part of the late Mr. John Turberville's tract—within 6 miles of Georgetown, 3 from the Little Falls Bridge, and near to the turnpike leading from thence to Wiley's, in Fairfax county, Va. A great proportion of this land is exceedingly well timbered, and that part which is not, is so recently cleared as to be in an active state for cultivation, and already in a productive condition. Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.
IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.
THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.
All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.
Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.
The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.
THOMAS COOPER, M. D.
CONDITIONS.
I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.
II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.
III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

James Kennedy & Son,
RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:
Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.
This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.
Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.
Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebrator or large round worm; the Ascarides or small round-worm; the Cucurbitina or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.
Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.
Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.
A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.
Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold it taken on its appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness of the stomach and severe head-ache—ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing diseases attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.
